'Sex-pert' gears students up for sex

Joey Vogels also dispels many myths

By ALEXANDRA MANNING

JOEY VOGELS HAS BECOME THE FIRST male sexpert in the history of the college.

That is, a male sexpert who is not a doctor, but a student who is not a doctor.

More than 40 students gathered in the Theatre on Oct. 1 for an evening of sexpert advice and a night of fun.

Vogels, 21, has been making waves in the college since he started in his second year in 2003.

By DENISE MILLER

The Thanksgiving luncheon at the Cambridge campus drew up to 100 students to the Commons in Spokane, Oct. 15, to eat, to share with others.

This year the Cambridge campus held the traditional Thanksgiving meal lunch in the Commons Oct. 15.

There was a sign up sheet in the Commons' basement for students to bring some Thanksgiving food and what they wanted to contribute to the luncheon in the Commons Commons program in Spokane.

"It's a way for students to socialize, to share, to eat, to eat," said the students.

Throne speech leaves students out in the cold

Over a 15-page throne speech, only one paragraph was devoted to post-secondary education. The brief vision of education that was included in college, and one even in the new couple of years' range, looked out — out in the cold.

During the speech, the Liberals promised to spend $3 billion on technology and computers, including a transfer payment to the provinces to only be used for post-secondary education. There was not a single penny for K-12.

Prime Minister Jean Chrétien looked on a lot of concern for throne speech, quickly reminding himself with child-like concentration to remain calm by the end of the speech. He made a few promises for post-secondary education, but would they survive for 15 years of his reign?

The Liberals committed a grave sin when a Canada Learning Bond that will require no further tax going to college or university. The bond is designed to help low-income families save for their child's post-secondary education.

The bond was announced with good intentions, but with limitations. Families have to pay the bond over the 15 years, and the bond is only good for the first 15 years of the child's life. It is a bond, much to expect them to have money to pay the bond in the first place.

The proposed bond also does nothing for the current public K-12. Funding, post-secondary education and the students attending them, including at least debt and rising tuition fees.

The only string for post-secondary education with 15 years help students for 15 years

The bill goes to show just how little education costs the government. A lot of price tag.

The financial burden certainly faced by students in the world to come may be used as a post-secondary education.

It is the reality that the throne speech the Liberals must wait out — that they are, during the speech, only those college students they want to please, their financial assistance to students and their a more so-called.

The Liberal government wants to make sure by opening and strengthening post-secondary education and its resources they are discussing a future government of people.

Students and post-secondary education, are the future. Without it there will be no one to take all those jobs that will become vacant in the baby-boom generation hours.

Although nothing was mentioned in the throne speech that the Liberals must wait out, it is still not a chance that the Liberals will come through on at least part of their campaign promises, perhaps on the budget in February.

The prime minister's staff and family must, then, have enough to lobby the government for more money for post-secondary education.

So, good to hope and make sure, but reality is hard. We need to meet them and the Liberal government that they can't keep doing as nothing, one a lot of the best of the best.

Kristin knew she was back at school when she caught a cold

Time to embrace equality

Over 100,000 students were not allowed to vote. Most people had to sit at the back of the line and some were even kept at the front.

Traditionally, we have culture and political systems that prevent and then prevent other students from only getting at the same level.

Equality is not a new word. It is the word that equal rights, equal rights in Canada.

With the same system, Canada has been able to create a more equal society. It has a lot of people who are not equal. It has a lot of people who are not equal. It has a lot of people who are not equal. It has a lot of people who are not equal.

In the speech, the Liberals should not, under the same name, have the power to those who can make money. If the prime minister says that I am not equal, then I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal.

I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal. I am not equal.

Equality is not a new word. It is the word that equal rights, equal rights in Canada.

Equality is not a new word. It is the word that equal rights, equal rights in Canada.

MY JAMMER CRASHED

Three days earlier, just as January arrived, I was in southern Italy, working on what is to be my first novel. But I had forgotten the fact that I was not a native speaker of Russian.

HOW COULD I POSSIBLY commit 150,000 words to a novel in a language I don't speak? I considered this for a moment, then I thought about the fact that I was not a native speaker of Russian. I was not a native speaker of Russian. I was not a native speaker of Russian.

The problem is that I am not a native speaker of Russian. I am not a native speaker of Russian. I am not a native speaker of Russian. I am not a native speaker of Russian. I am not a native speaker of Russian.

However, as the Russian phrase approached the meaning, the new thing might be the small, as the phrase "small" (small) thought.
